On November 29, 1992, Judy Blake Moilanen, 35, took her dogs for a walk in the north Michigan woods. It was the last time she would be seen alive. She was found shot through the chest, a seeming hunting accident victim. But state police Sergeant Bob Ball remained sceptical...Judy's husband, Bruce, 37, was the beneficiary of insurance policies with "accidental death" clauses that would pay off $330,000 in claims. Disturbing facts soon surfaced about a prior incident in which Judy had narrowly escaped being killed by a concrete block that had fallen from the roof where her husband was working. On a separate occasion, a fire had broken out as she and her 3-year-old daughter slept alone in the house. Bruce Moilanen was a debt-dodger and chiseller, obsessed with a happily married woman who regarded him only as a "pest." For months, Sergeant Ball painstakingly gathered evidence against Moilanen, yet there was still no sign of a murder weapon as the trial date approached. Would a youthful prosecutor be able to overcome a tenacious defence and the spectre of reasonable doubt to prove that Judy Moilanen's death was anything but accidental - and every bit an act of cold-blooded murder?

Freddie Straughter:

As a university student exactly feel bored for you to reading. If their teacher requested them to go to the library or to make summary for some publication, they are complained. Just tiny students that has reading's heart and soul or real their interest. They just do what the educator want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading critically. Any students feel that looking at is not important, boring and can't see colorful photographs on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this age, many ways to get whatever we want. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore , this Hunt To Kill (previously published as The Sweater Letter) can make you really feel more interested to read.
